Hoisting Not Heisting A Safe

One of two safes removed from town hall last Wednesday afternoon swings free from a second floor window with the assistance of Phil Dole of the rigging firm. The safes, one carrying the date 1919, were removed with a crane, and will allow for further office renovation at the town hall. Dole and his brothers were taking up where their father left off. Percy Dole had originally moved the two-ton units up to the second floor in 1938 through a scuttle hole with rope falls. The job was a little easier this time around. Other photos, page 2.

Town Election Date Change Gets Approval

It's a little early to be making plans for next winter, but don't mark the first Monday in March as town election day in 1976.

The annual town election will now officially be the fourth Monday in March, as approved at the annual town meeting, and now given the approval of the attorney general's office.

The action also moves the first business session of the annual town meeting to the fourth Monday in April.

Town Clerk Elden R. Salter received the approvals of the remaining bylaws and zoning changes as enacted at the annual town meeting from the attorney general's office this past week.

The action of the town is, therefore, now official.

Changing the town election and town meeting date was suggested by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and recommended by the selectmen to town meeting this year.

Basis for the change was to allow proper time for budget preparation and perusal by town authorities in conformance with the new municipal fiscal year which runs from July 1 to June 30. Previously the municipal year was January to December and in conflict with state and federal fiscal years.

The election is the first article in the annual town meeting, after which the meeting, so-called adjourns to another date agreed upon by municipal officials.

Moving the meeting to the fourth Monday in April allows newly elected officials to become familiar with the budgets and municipal matters, as well as bypassing the annual April school vacation, which, in recent years, has interrupted the successive Monday night routine for conducting the town's business.

DeLuca Set To Take Ownership Of Woodward's

Woodworth Motors in Shawsheen Square is in the process of formal sale to Bill DeLuca Chevrolet, according to information obtained Wednesday by the TOWNSMAN.

Agreements between the Woodworth interests and DeLuca, who has operated an automobile agency in Haverhill for several years have been reached and formal signings are anticipated within a few days.

A spokesman, acting in the interests of both Woodworth and DeLuca, said the new owners will take over the Chevrolet and Cadillac lines and expects to retain present personnel.

The original Woodworth building was a part of the William Wood dream village of Shawsheen and once was to house and service cars for the occupants of the village area.

It has been an automobile agency for Cadillac and later Chevrolet for many years.

DeLuca operated an automobile agency in Lawrence for several years before taking over the Chevrolet agency in Haverhill.

Formal agreements with General Motors for the takeover of the agency by DeLuca have also been worked out and appear ready for signing, according to the spokesman.

Preparing For A 'Safe' Ride

THE TOWNSMAN, JULY 31, 1975

Ed, Tom and Phil Dole prepare old safe for departure from the second floor of the town hall last Wednesday afternoon. The men had a little easier time, using the services of a crane. Their father had moved the safe from the first floor to the second, back in the late 30's through use of a rope falls.

Town Hall Lighter By Two Tons

One of two large safes, weighing in the vicinity of two tons each is eased out a window and to a truck below. The operation allowed for additional office space during the renovations of the town hall now going on.

Medallion To Be Offered

A limited edition of registered numbered sterling silver medallions commemorating the American Revolution are being made available for purchase, according to the Andover Medallion Committee.

The medallion, designed by the committee members; Mrs. Edward Saulnier, chairman; Col. Edward Harris; Town Clerk Elden R. Salter; and John Lewis, depicts the town seal on the reverse side. The obverse will depict the busts of Samuel Phillips, Sr. and Samuel Phillips, Jr. (father and son) - legislators, educators and benefactors of Andover during the Revolutionary Period. Andover's Bicentennial Logo and a cannon symbolizing Andover's gunpowder mill, so important to the American cause in 1776 and later, will also grace the design.

Number One of the silver medallion will be donated to the Town of Andover for its archives. Orders for registered number silver medallions will be assigned as orders are received. Order forms will soon be available at key locations in Andover and also by mail.

Orders for the medallions are to be placed on the form with Col. E.M. Harris, USA-Ret., 311 South Main St., Andover, Mass. 01810. Payment should accompany order form.

Medallions should be available by late fall. A bronze unregistered edition will also be available. It is estimated that the cost of the sterling silver medallion will be under twenty dollars and that of the bronze medallion under five dollars.

Although this medallion is being struck by the present Town of Andover as part of its Bicentennial celebration, it will be recalled that at the time of the American Revolution the town embraced North Andover and that part of Lawrence south of the Merrimack River.

Andover To Have Vietnam Family

Andover will soon have a Vietnamese family.

The parish of Christ Church has applied for sponsorship of a refugee family.

Refugee resettlement is carefully controlled by the Federal government through six social service agencies it has designated. Christ Church is seeking sponsorship through the Episcopal Church Center in New York and Church World Service. This agency has found a family who would like to come to Andover.

Doan Le and his family will soon be leaving the refugee camp in Indian Town Gap, Pa., to make their home here in an apartment on High Street rented for them by Christ Church. Doan Le is a tailor and his wife is a former teaching aide at the American School.

She speaks English well and is an experienced cook. Doan Le's four children will accompany him, as well as his 21 year old sister-in-law.

Mr. Doan and his family have told the resettlement authorities that they are willing to work at any jobs that can be found.

The Resettlement Committee of the church includes Virginia Cole, chairman; Betsy Pickup, Allen Gable, Katie Ongaro, Ethel Stansfield, Kathy Dow, Jane Pereira, Louise Stupack and Jack Thompson.

Anyone interested in helping to welcome these refugees to Andover may call any member of the committee. House furnishings are needed as well as winter clothes, food and jobs.

Named Sales Engineer

The Badger Company, Inc., a subsidiary of Raytheon Company, has appointed G.T. Flint a sales engineer. He will operate from the Cambridge headquarters of the company.

Mr. Flint joined Badger in 1973 as a project manager. Prior to that, he spent ten years with the Monsanto Company in the areas of process engineering, project management and commercial development. From 1969 to 1973, he held positions of engineering management and administration for Monsanto Enviro-Chem Systems, Inc. His background also includes petroleum refinery experience with the Shell Oil Company.

Mr. Flint graduated from Washington University with a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering. He is a Registered Professional Engineer in Missouri, Rhode Island and Texas. He is a member of the American

G.T. Flint

Institute of Chemical Engineers and American Chemical Society.

He lives with his wife and two children at 8 Lancaster Place, Andover.

Conditions Improve At Hospital

At the request of Senator William L. Saltonstall (R) of Manchester, a meeting was held at Danvers State Hospital to discuss some of the problems concerning the hospital. Subsequent to the meeting the following has been accomplished.

The medical review team has begun its study and at the end of the first week the senator has received very favorable reports indicating improvement in the medical care at the hospital. The Department of Mental Health has requested the transfer of a physician position from the Central Office Administration account to the Danvers State Hospital account. This has been approved by the Executive Office of Human Services and has been forwarded to the Executive Office of Administration and Finance.

The Department of Mental Health has contacted the Massachusetts Psychiatric Society to assist in recruiting a Director of Psychiatry and has talked with some possible candidates for the Assistant Superintendent position.

In summary, the staff at Danvers State Hospital appears to have made significant progress toward improving the quality of care rendered to patients.

Beach Shuttle

The Recreation / Community Schools Department has acquired a second bus to transport Junior and Senior high youth to Hampton Beach. Cost for the round trip from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., is $1.00. The bus leaves from the East Junior High parking lot. Seats are limited to 110 people thus a first come first serve policy will be used.

Gardens Aiding More Than Just 'Farmer'

The crops are looking good at the Community Gardens in West Andover.

The Andover Community Gardeners, out at the Deer-jump Reservation, are beginning to reap the "fruits" of their efforts of the past few weeks.

They've also solved one problem that plagues their backyard counterparts: what to do with the produce that ripens when they're away on vacation.

The group has set up a Social Action Committee that, on request, tends gardens and picks the ripened produce to give away, instead of letting it rot on the vine.

The vegetables, according to Co-chairmen Barbara Loughner and Carol DeLiere, who are already tending a garden for one vacationer, will be distributed to the elderly, via The Haven, and to the needy.

Mrs. Loughner says that about 55 families are members of this year's community garden, and those who got an early start, are picking all kinds of vegetables right now.

By Linda S. Corbett

A few of the people who signed up for the free plots have not planted, she said, but added that a lot of things - such as beets, beans, lettuce and carrots, could still be planted for harvest in the fall.

While the three-week drought wasn't as severe as last year's, Mrs. Loughner says that corn out at the project isn't as high as it ought to be and the potato plants "look terrible."

The rains came just in time to save the squash, which is starting to ripen now, and picked up everything else as well.

A couple of people used pumps, she said, to draw on Merrimack River water during the dry spell, while others toted their water from home.

Still others, Mrs. Loughner says, mulched, using black plastic, hay or grass clippings.

We will recommend that people do that next year, she said, because the mulch keeps down weeds, which draw what water there is in the ground away from the vegetables. The mulch also holds in moisture when it does rain, she says.

She added the project is always looking for hay for mulching purpose, if anyone has any to spare, as well as horse manure for fertilizing.

The gardeners are still looking for a water supply, and water is certain to be a major topic when they have their annual meeting the first Sunday in October.

Meanwhile, the group has met with the Conservation Commission, on whose land they are farming, and are drawing up bylaws, to gain more official status.

Persons who are going on vacation, or who have "given up" on their gardens, are asked to contact members of the social action group, who will take over. They include Mrs. Virginia Orlando, 65 Stevens Street; Mrs. Ross Yeiter, 182 Holt Road; and Mrs. Judy McDonald, 11 Shawsheen Road.

Starting The Day Off Right

Youngsters at South Playground started the day with a good breakfast Tuesday morning as the girls acted as waitresses and hostesses and the boys entertained and did dishes. Here, Carole Jones serves Sis Anderson and Paula Eldred their portions of pancakes, juice, cereal, toast and muffins.

This week's playground activities were highlighted by a trip to Salisbury beach. The cold Salisbury water, provided a refreshing way to beat the summer heat.

Everyone is reminded that on Tuesday Aug. 5, the playgrounds will be closed. On that day a carnival will be held in Central Park from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

On Thursday, Aug. 7, The National Theatre for Children will present the show "Tramp at the Crossroads." The show will be in Central Park at 2:30 p.m.

Sanborn

Sports practice for the super sluggers went very well this past week. Sanborn is working hard. At the softball game against West, runs were scored by Danny Kimball, Joe Develis, Peter Chicklas and Big Bad Breek.

Tim Crush held a potholder workshop. The kids did a fantastic job and Tim is the best teacher around. Anja Grant taught those who were unable to use a loom, how to weave belts on their fingers.

At our big meeting we decided to use our hard earned money on a slip n' slide, a water wiggle and other extras for Sanborn. Much to the dismay and delight of the Sanbornites, Steve and Scott Colity brought in a water wiggle.

Eric Benson proved to be the 'King' of the waves at the beach party. A great time was had by all.

Rice Krispies sculptures were the big attraction last Thursday. Marsha Cummings' owl and Beth Murphy's dog won first prizes.

Hula Hoop contests, frisbie throwing and gimp have brought a lot of kids to the playground.

Shawsheen

Joey Cormier again reporting from the Shawsheen news room!

Monday we held a bubble gum blowing contest. Kelly Horan won for the K-3 group with Kimmy Horan taking second place. Jeff Demers won for the 4-6 group with Pam Mercier taking second place.

Tuesday we made ornaments out of wrapping paper which we hung to decorate the school. In the jumping over the water contest, Pam Mercier won, Marybeth Horan came in second and Gary Davis came in third.

We also made a fruit salad with all different kinds of fruit.

Wednesday we went to Salisbury beach. It was a super time. We flew kites and played frisbee and football. A bunch of kids picked up the counselors and threw them in the cold water. But the counselors always managed to get revenge.

Thursday we practiced for our talent show. Then we had a barnyard holler. Ellen Childs group won, Linda Howard, Mary Horan, Nancy Howard, Chris Bricknard. Maureen Gildea's group came in second, Joey Cormier, Cheryl Menzies, Amy Sirois, Teddy Sirois and Andy Mailloux. We also had a huge obstacle course that was both inside and out. David Bailey came in first with a time of one minute, nineteen seconds. John Howell came in second with a time of one minute, twenty-nine seconds.

Friday we went to the Andover Bird Sanctuary. We got kind of soggy, but it was fun anyway.

Ballardvale

Ballardvale playground triumphed over Shawsheen in softball and hockey to gain the championships in both sports. The softball game was a squirm with Mike Croke's last inning homerun giving the decision to Ballardvale 15-14. The hockey decision to Ballardvale was 4-3.

The climax of the week was our Halloween party. The mask contest was won by Debi Pressman, Susan Connelly and Veronica Croke. The doughnut eating contest and candy hunt was a great success.

We finished up the week with a cookout in the rain.

Wednesday's beach trip was fun for all, especially Bobby Becotte who was buried up to his neck in the sand.

Doherty

The fourth week at Doherty proved to be the best by far. Monday was highlighted by a town tour. The leaders and a small group of kindergarten to third graders walked to town and visited the police and fire station taking advantage of the good weather to look around and find out more about the town in which they live.

Tuesday, the younger group took part in a project called foot painting. Feet of all colors were walking and tramping through paint and paper to create a beautiful and colorful mural. On the sport scene this was the most successful of the summer for the Downtowners and the Shady Ladies. In hockey the Downtowners pulled out a 9-3 victory over South. Goal scorers were Andy Billings with a season high six goals, others were Shawn Flanagan with two and Mike Flynn. In softball, our girls team, the Shady Ladies, pulled out a 9-6 win versus West. Big sluggers of the team included Missy Lucey, Mary Trainor, Dana Degregorio, Adrienne Fish all with three hits apiece. The star at the plate was Pat Doherty who accounted for all the RBIs with her two home runs and a double. Kathy Jamin, Terry Morin, Tammy Doyle, Susan Doyle all had one hit apiece. It was a great game all along but the girls showed great defensive strength in hanging on to the win, which bettered their score to 2-1.

Wednesday was trip day, as most of the playground members packed up and headed for Salisbury Beach.

Thursday was preparation day. While the older group was preparing for the Doherty breakfast the younger children took part in a scavenger hunt. The winning team, led by captain Tom Galvin and members Tom Billings, Jane Billings, Kara Maloney, Amy Moody and Mark Lefebvre found all the lost articles first and earned more points to their score for awards.

Friday was the biggest day of the summer for the Doherty playgrounds. It was the morning of the first Doherty breakfast. The morning started rolling at nine o'clock sharp with the cooks preparing the first of many pancakes and waffles. The menu included pancakes, waffles and doughnuts, with side orders of juice, milk and coffee. We apologize to our patrons who ordered waffles but we just couldn't get the irons working, we hope you enjoyed the pan-

West

Last week the biggest event at the Wild West was our annual pie eating contest. We had fifty pies and the winners were: K-3, Jodi Finnegan (first), Andrew Lawson (second), Greg Saulules (third); 4-6, Anne Concemi (first), Michael Flieder (second), Jon Dietzel (third).

David Collins won first and only place in the hobby show with his cop-out model car. At the sing-a-long, Sue's guitar broke, but we sang anyway.

The cheerleaders are looking good with their red, white and blue shakers. Tracey and Stacey Hostetter are leading the squad.

Looking over the field of sports, at the Wild West, Jeff Sauliner continues his superior play in hockey and softball and as we move on into the basketball and kickball portions of our schedule the West Wildcats are

Looking ahead, our tea party is next Thursday, so everyone dress up, bring your stuffed animals and dolls.

And finally the Wild West talent show is next Friday.

South

Congratulations to all of those who represented South playground in the Poms Pond swim meet. With the help of the Saalfranks, Kovacs and Kurt Lengeman, South scored higher than any of the other five playgrounds.

The highlight of the week was the trip to Salisbury beach. A special thanks to all the mothers and grandmothers who helped out.

Tuesday was our busiest day. Regina was on a fishing hike with the younger kids. After all the snag hooks, tangled lines, and bobbers in the trees, the only thing that was caught was a small frog. Steve and the team booted Doherty playground in hockey and Carrie and the girls attempted to make caramel apples. They really were delicious.

The winners of our scavenger hunt were David Jones, first;

Evan Wasserman, second; and Carolyn Jones, Carla Levi and Aimee Levi, all tied for third.

We would like to thank Carolyn and Cathy for visiting our playground and teaching us various stitches with gimp. It took Linda a while but soon she caught on.

Last week we left out a name in our bowling high scorers. David Jones tied for second.

All Stars Title Quest Ends

Major League Form

Richie Sambuco of the Andover American Little League All Stars shows good form during game against Acton-Boxboro last Saturday afternoon. Shortstop Eddie Powers is in the background. Andover lost to end their post-season tournament effort.

By Rick Harrison
We've got good news and bad news.

The Andover American Little League All-Stars won the District 14 championship last week, becoming the first team from this town to turn that trick, but a hard-throwing lefthander from Acton-Boxboro named Dave Murphy made sure that was as far as the locals advanced.

The AL 'Stars won their fifth straight tournament game by blanking defending District 14 champ Tewksbury National 4-0 at the Chelmsford Fitts field, but Murphy bounced Andover out practically by himself when he fired a sensational one-hitter in Bi-District action last Saturday as Acton-Boxboro chalked up a convincing 10-1 victory at Chelmsford Fitts.

The Good News

Bob Patterson scattered seven hits, fanned nine, walked five and wiggled out of more tight spots than Houdini in pitching Andover American to its 4-0 victory over Tewksbury National.

It marked the third straight triumph for Patterson, who pitched 18 innings of tournament ball and allowed only one run and 12 hits.

Andover picked up the only run it needed in the second inning. Steve Rathbun singled, stole second, took third on Ted Kelley's single and raced home when Jeff Nicastro beat out an infield hit.

The score went to 2-0 in the fourth frame as Tom Wilkins blasted a double, and after Rathbun lined out, Nicastro was safe on an error with Wilkins crossing the plate.

In the fifth stanza Ed Powers led with a single. Bob Heidt dropped what appeared to be a hit into centerfield, but Powers got a late start to second base and was gunned down there.

Patterson followed with a long two-run homer to centerfield, capping the winners' offense. Tom Wilkins then doubled but was left stranded.

Ed Powers and Bob Heidt both went 2-for-3 with a pair of singles each, while Wilkins hammered two doubles.

On defense, leftfielder Tom Wilkins made back-to-back sparkling catches in the fifth inning. He robbed Mike McGrath of a homerun, then followed with a diving stab of a sinking liner. Chris Doherty also made a brace of fine catches in rightfield, and centerfielder Steve Rathbun cut down a runner at the plate with a fine throw to catcher Ted Kelley.

Tewksbury National had runners on base in every inning against Patterson, but the losers stranded no less than 13 players along the way.

The Bad News

Dave Murphy was simply too much for Andover American, as he struck out 13 batters and Andover's lone run came in that same inning. Tom Hetley reached on an error, took second on a wild pitch and third base on a passed ball. Chris Doherty walked, then broke for second as if to steal but 'stopped halfway there. As the Acton infield chased Doherty, Hetley scored from third base and Chris made it back to first safely.

The victors received back-to-back homeruns from Mike Harrington and Joe Bryant. Jeff Singleton, Matt Fitzpatrick, Bob Rule and Jim Rhodes all went 2-for-3 to help Acton-Boxboro.

THE TOWNSMAN, JULY 31, 1975

The Andover Recreation All Stars split a twinbill with the North Andover Legion on Sunday at North Andover. Andover won the opener 2-1 as Laszlo Kun bested Mike DiTroia (Andover) in the first game, while North Andover, taking advantage of errors with two outs, won the second 7-3.

In the opener, North Andover scored first as Rullo singled, Connor doubled and Rullo scored when the ball was thrown to the wrong base. Andover tied the game in the second when Mike Homsey led off with a triple. He then had to hold third as Paul McIntyre rocketed a shot off the third baseman's leg. Mike DiTroia then balked in the first Andover run.

In the fifth, Andover got its second run as Kun walked, stole second and scored on Mike Homsey's base hit. This was the last run of the game as both Kun and DiTroia had the game in hand.

Andover, playing ten of its twenty man squad, looked sharp, both offensively and defensively, as they played errorless ball while getting eight hits including two by Tom Barenboim and Mike Homsey. At the same time, Kun only allowed North Andover three hits, struck out five and walked three.

In the field, Andover was led by the outstanding play of shortstop Barenboim and centerfielder Mike Campfield.

In the second game, Andover played the rest of its squad and was beaten 7-3. North Andover used two pitchers in David Mosher and Jim Gillen to best Andover's Dennis Twoomey and Al Ferrullo.

Both Andover pitchers were tough when they had to be as they struck out ten and walked only four, but North Andover got two in the fourth after two were out on three successive infield errors. They added two more in the sixth by scoring with two outs on another infield error.

North Andover was saprked by excellent pitching and good defense as the duo of pitchers only walked three and struck out six. The victors were also led by excellent fielding on the part of Glenn and Keith Verrette and the hitting of Jeff Towne and Keith Verrette with two hits apiece. Towne's hits included a triple and homerun.

Andover is due to play on the road Tuesday while coming home to play North Andover on Thursday. The All Stars will then play a two-night pair in Danvers on Sunday.

The All-Stars expect to improve as things were shown that were very encouraging. These were the first games in which they played together.

The second game involved playing many people in places where they didn't belong in order to play everyone.

Ruth Club Clings To Top

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team lengthened its win streak through 11 straight games and clung to first place in the standings last week, posting successive victories over North Lawrence (9-6), South Lawrence East (17-0) and Tower Hill (8-0).

The triple triumphs boosted the locals Greater Lawrence League record to 15-3, while overall the team is now 21-3.

Steve Serley
 ... clutch relief

Andover was scheduled to conclude its regular season slate this week, knocking heads with Tower Hill, North Andover and South Lawrence East.

Still in the running for the championship are Methuen and North Andover, both one-half game behind the locals entering this week's play, and it stood to reason that the title would not be decided until the final tilt of the season.

No. Lawrence, 9-6

Andover raced to a quick 7-0 lead after two innings against North Lawrence and ace pitcher Joe Donahue, but it took some clutch late relief by Steve Serley to insure the victory at Hayden-Schofield Playstead.

The locals touched Donahue for three runs in the first, as Bob Zwicker scored on a passed ball and Gary Needham lashed a two-run single.

Andover chalked up four more markers in the second stanza after two were out. Zwicker drew the second of his four walks, Dan Grams walked and one run crossed when Tom Coffey's spinning grounder was misplayed.

Dan Hayes singled home Grams, and after Needham walked Steve Serley punched a two-run single to leftfield.

Andover started - and - winner Mike Henderson, who upped his record to 6-1, gave up one run in the third when Ron McGrath singled, Dave Collins singled and Mike McCarthy bounced out to shortstop with McGrath scoring.

The locals retaliated for an 8-1 lead in the fourth as Coffey singled and Needham hammered a long triple to right centerfield.

NL chipped away for two more tallies in the bottom of the inning, reaching Henderson for three hits including a two-run triple by Collins.

Andover's final run came in the fifth. Zwicker walked for the fourth time, stole second, took third on an error and scored when Pete Feeney laid down a perfect safety squeeze bunt.

North Lawrence chased Henderson in the fifth, the first time Mike has been lifted this season. Four walks and a double by Lou Albaraccin closed the gap to 9-5, and with the bases loaded and one out Serley was summoned.

Steve induced McGrath to bounce out to shortstop with one run scoring. He then fanned Collins and proceeded to pitch shutout ball in the sixth and seventh during his second relief stint of the campaign.

Serley issued two walks and whiffed four in two-and-two-thirds frames.

Powering Andover's 10-hit barrage against Donahue were Coffey, Serley, Needham and Dave Birnbach with two safeties apiece. Bob Zwicker reached base five straight times, rapping a double after his four walks, as he and Coffey each scored three times.

The locals played flawlessly in the field. Dan Hayes made a fine running catch in right-center to rob Donahue of extra bases, while Dave Farrell handled six chances perfectly at shortstop, and steady outfield play was also turned in by Dave Birnbach and Paul Kelly.

SLE, 17-0

Andover lefty Dave Birnbach (2-0) fashioned a masterful one-hit shutout, keeping his E.R.A. at 0.00, and his teammates exploded for 16 hits during their biggest offensive outburst of the season. The locals built up a 9-0 lead in the top of the first inning at the Stadium, then chipped away for runs in every frame but the fourth.

Defensively Andover was sharp once again, turning in a pair of doubleplays to lift their twin-killing total to nine for the season.

Birnback lost his no-hitter with one out in the sixth, as Rick Hansen switch-hit and drilled a solid opposite-field single to right.

Prior to that shortstop Dave Farrell and second baseman Pete Feeney had preserved the no-hitter by stabbing line drives ticketed for the outfield.

Red-hot catcher Gary Needham continued to rip the ball for Andover, lashing a double, two singles and driving home three runs before leaving the game with a jammed ankle in the fourth inning.

Needham was taken to the hospital for precautionary X-Rays, which proved negative, and he returned to play the following night.

Tom Coffey and Dan Grams both enjoyed perfect 2-for-2 nights, with Coffey collecting two RBI and improving his on-base percentage to .852 since the All-Star break.

Dan Hayes went 2-for-3 with a pair of RBIs, Dave Farrell lashed a run-scoring double and single, Bill Stahley had a two-bagger and three RBI, Pete Feeney a single and two runs scored, and Bob Zwicker a single and two runs scored.

Rounding out the bombardment with singles were Lary Larabee and Steve Serley.

Tower Hill, 6-0

Playing perhaps its sharpest all-around game of the season, Andover avenged an earlier defeat to Tower Hill by blanking the visitors 6-0 at the Playstead behind the solid one-hit hurling of Tom Coffey.

Coffey, undefeated on the hill with a 6-0 record, fanned nine batters and walked six. He whiffed the side in the third inning, and struck out two during both the fifth and seventh frames.

Spoiling Tom's bid for his second no-hitter of the year was TH shortstop Joe Baillargeon, who led the second stanza with a clean double which split the Andover outfield in right-center.

Baillargeon was the only runner to advance beyond second base, but he never scored as Andover posted its second consecutive shutout and fifth of the season.

Coffey picked up all the runs he needed in the first. Bob Zwicker opened with a walk against complete-game loser Dick Cameron, stole second and trotted across on Dan Grams' RBI single. Coffey dumped a run-scoring double down the right-field line, stole third and scored when Dan Hayes bounced into a doubleplay making it 3-0.

Andover made it 4-0 in the second. With two out, Mike Henderson beat out an infield roller and took second on an errant throw. Bob Zwicker followed with a slashing single up-the-middle for the run.

The locals struck for the final time with two down in the fifth. Coffey singled, Gary Needham walked and Dan Hayes reached on Cameron's error to load the bases. Steve Serley capitalized on the TH mistake by drilling a two-run single to rightfield.

Paul Kelly and Dan Grams spiked in the sixth stanza, but Cameron worked his way out of the jam.

Defensively Coffey was as busy as anyone, throwing out four batters who bounced back to the mound, and once again it was a perfect game in the field for the victors.

Four championship, and that club now advances to the State Tournament this weekend in Framingham.

Andover players on the team are Bill Stahley, Lary Larabee and Pete Feeney. Larabee starred against Wakefield with a perfect bunt single, and he made the defensive play of the game by gunning down a Wakefield runner from centerfield as he tried to stretch a single to a double.

The 13-year-old All-Stars will be housed by parents of the Framingham players on Friday and Saturday nights. The G-L team is scheduled to play Saturday at 5 p.m. in the State semifinals, and a victory there would push Lawrence into Sunday's finals.

The State champ then proceeds to the New England Regional Tournament August 15-17 in South Weymouth.

now 7-2, but each is chasing the Red Sox who have several makeup games to play.

The Twins erupted the score four runs in the first inning, and they added their final marker in the third to make it 5-0 at that time. The Yanks made it interesting by tracking across three runs in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Winning hurler Steve Rathbun, who also picked up two victories in All-Star competition, scattered four hits and struck out four.

Bob Heidt and Chris Doherty did the pitching for the Yanks.

Rathbun actually won his own game by blasting a three-run homer in the opening canto. Steve also doubled, while Eric Fredette slammed a pair of two-baggers and Dave Gusmini spiked a double.

Chris Doherty and Dennis Glynn doubled for the Yanks, while Glen Johnson and Bob Heidt spanked singles.

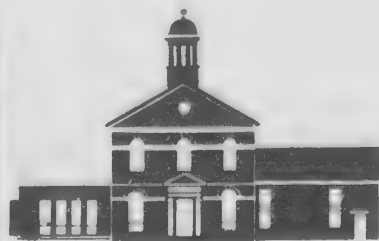

The Twins received a pair of game-saving catches in the sixth inning, one by Brian Peters in leftfield and the other by centerfielder Brett Pearson.

Children's Room News

By Ruth Hooten

Summer is moving along at a brisk pace, especially in the Children's Room. Perhaps the biggest (and the saddest) news for August is the departure of Jan Johnson from her position at Head of the Children's Room. She will be replaced by Ruth Hooten, who takes over on August 1.

Our last feature film of the summer will be the exciting Captain Sinbad. The movie will start at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 6 and will last until 5. Admission is free to anyone with a library card but parents should plan to stay with children under 6 years.

If anyone is feeling creative, there will be a Wood Sculpture Program for children 6 - 12 years. Meet in the Children's Room at 10:30 a.m. Aug. 8 (Friday) and use your imagination to create your own works of art.

Though summer is nearly over, it's not too late to join the Summer Reading Club (Tuesday at 2:30 for grades 1-3 and Thursday at 2:30 for grades 4-6). Remember, all you have to read is three books in order to come to the club's party in September.

Don't forget that the Laura Ingalls Wilder Club meets on Monday evenings at 6 for the rest of August. The Yellow Balloon will also continue to provide stories on a drop-in basis Tuesday mornings at 10 for children ages 3½-5 years.

Hooked on Paperbacks (HOP) is a program for all Adult readers (7th grade and older) and will run during July and August. On July 31, 7 - 8 p.m. a Half-Way Coke Party will be held. Church Organist In Concert

The tenth in the Methuen Memorial Music Hall's summer series of fifteen weekly summer organ recitals will be given on Wednesday, Aug. 6, at 8:30 p.m. The organist will be Andrew Clarke, organist and choirmaster of South Congregational Church in Pittsfield.

Mr. Clarke holds degrees from Yale University and the New England Conservatory. As an organ recitalist, he has played extensively in the New England area, including an all-Bach recital as a "Weekend Prelude" concert at the 1974 Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood. In 1970, he attended the Summer Academy for Organists in Haarlem, Holland, studying Bach with Anton Heiller and improvisation with Cor Kee. Mr. Clarke is noted as one of the few American organists who regularly improvises in recital, and he has conducted lecture-demonstrations in the art of improvisation both at the Choate Organ Seminars in Connecticut and for chapter meetings of the American Guild of Organists. His Methuen recital will include organ sonatas by Hindemith and Mendelssohn, choral preludes by Brahms and Clarke, and works of J.S. Bach. His program will conclude with an improvisation on a theme which will be submitted to him just after he has performed the final Bach piece.

Appeals Board Denies Expansion Petitions

The Zoning Board of Appeals in decisions filed this past week, has denied amending a decision of the board regarding expansion of the American Power Devices Company on Andover street and rejected expansion of Barron's variety store and service station at Lowell street and Haggetts Pond road.

The board, in the same decision, did permit limited expansion of the Andover street facility and allowed increased gasoline storage for the Lowell street service station.

The petition for amendment of a previous decision and request for limited expansion at American Power Devices was presented at a hearing on April 3.

The petitioner, Sidney P. White, owner of the property, asked permission to allow a 50 per cent addition to the building which is used in light manufacturing of electronics components.

There was no opposition to the request at the hearing.

A December 1968, decision of the zoning board, approved the use of the building, which formerly was a modern cow barn, to be renovated and used for the light manufacturing work of APD.

The greater expansion of the property through amending that decision was denied on the basis of traffic on the street, and also that the board felt it did not have the right to make the amendment.

Further, the board stated in its decision, granting the requested relief could mean giving permission to more than one party, while only American Power Devices would have to meet the conditions set down, if approved.

The zoning board did allow limited expansion of the property to include adding and finishing dormers and also placing a 125 foot addition on the building.

Atty. Gerald Lewis represented the petitioner and Robert Roy, manager of APD, at the hearing.

The denial of expansion of Barron's on Lowell street was also filed this week, following a hearing held on the petition in February.

Several abutters had registered no opposition to the petition to expand and modernize the variety store which serves the neighborhood.

It was explained at the hearing that the business had been in operation for over 40 years and was a service type enterprise for an area which had grown substantially since its founding.

Registering opposition to the petition were the conservation commission and the planning board, conservationists on the basis of the location of the property in the Haggetts Pond watershed area and planners stating the property is a non-conforming use and should not be expanded within the context of the town's zoning bylaws.

Approval of the increase in storage of gasoline for the service station was approved on the basis that oil companies have now changed their requirements and policies and that to deny storage of the 15,000 gallons would possibly result in loss of such business.

The petitioner, Thomas L. Barron now has permission to store 5,000 gallons.

Selectmen Not To Act On School Post

The Andover selectmen are scheduled to meet today at 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Memorial Hall Library.

Anticipated agenda items include the formal taking of easements for the trunk sewer line to the Hewlett-Packard site and action on a request to install underground cable along an 8,000 foot route on Lowell street.

No action is anticipated on replacing John Lyons on the school committee. Lyons resigned effective June 30. Acting Chairman George F. Olesen and the remaining members of the committee have requested the selectmen to set the machinery in motion for replacing Lyons, but it is felt the selectmen will wait until Chairman Francis Griggs returns from summer employment out of state to begin the replacement process.

The board will establish dates for opening and closing of the warrant for the October town meeting, and examine a tentative list of items for that meeting.

'Project Adventure' Preps Incoming Frosh At UMass

You could almost hear the jungle drums beat their messages through the trees, at least the way Hollywood used to present the scene.

But this time the scene was produced by a young woman who said in mockingly ominous tones, "You are on a safari in deepest, darkest Africa and you have to cross over that log between those two trees, to avoid your Pygmy attackers. Cobras hanging down from the log prevent you from going under it."

Her "movie extras" were incoming freshmen students at the University of Massachusetts / Amherst and the "jungle" was a remote part of the campus which was set up with hanging ropes Tarzan would have made mighty use of, old automobile tires swinging from trees, rickety bridges crossing tiny streams, and other "hazards." The producer was a student counsellor.

It's all part of Project Adventure, one of the many activities of the UMass summer orientation program which has been preparing 5,000 freshmen and transfer students for the coming academic year. Project Adventure builds a sense of "we're all in this together" for the new college students.

Other parts of the summer counselling do also. The students learn together many of the things they'll need to know to function at the approximately 23,000-student University in the fall. They find out which dormitories they'd like to select, they choose courses and sometimes major Kit Farrington crosses a stream the hard way during her summer orientation session at the University of Massachusetts / Amherst where she will be a freshman in the fall. She was a volunteer participant in Project Adventure, a summer orientation program involving outdoor problem - solving in various situations. Kit is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Farrington of 2 Cheever Circle, Andover.

"I think it's a good idea because you get an idea of what you're paying for," she said. She also changed an impression she'd had of dormitory living - that her child would be sleeping in a room with about seven other students. The dormitories, she learned, do not have eight-bed rooms, rather rooms are singles and mostly doubles.

Rob Gilbert, assistant director of the summer counselling program, answered that her reaction was typical.

"One reason this program is so successful," he said, "especially Barbara Dixon "swings to safety" as she manages to keep her feet out of the "pit of poison peanut butter" she was assured was there. The exercise is part of Project Adventure, a volunteer activity for incoming freshmen attending the University of Massachusetts / Amherst summer orientation program. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dixon of 30 Cutler Road, Andover.

with the parents, is that most people come up here having heard a lot of stories about UMass, and find out a lot of the rumors are not true."

A father agreed. "One impression I had," he said, "is that it's a rather large state institution; but the feeling I'm getting now is that it is rather as personalized as it can be."

A few years ago, according to Gilbert, parents were asking mostly about such issues as coed dormitory living and drugs. This year the parents were more concerned about academic opportunities, who cleans the students' rooms, where student musicians can practice, when should the students arrive in September, and how does a student change courses or dormitories or roommates.

fields, they take academic tests for proper course level placement.

During the three days the new UMass students are on campus in the summer, they have opportunities to learn of the various academic departments which make up UMass, of specific careers they may train for, of alternative programs to the traditional, and - - for the women - - what careers in mostly male areas mean for the women who select them.

Parents also attend summer counselling. During the last day of the session, they get a look at the campus, from the 10th and 11th floors of the Campus Center, from touring buses, and from a slide show.

Parents get some sense of togetherness, but not from participating in rope-swinging sessions in a mock jungle. They attend small-group discussions lead by student counsellors.

Cheever Artistry In Tewksbury

W. Abbott Cheever, an Andover native, who moved to New Hampshire about ten years ago, was the subject of a column written by Neil Mangold in the Milford Cabinet, weekly newspaper serving the Milford-Amherst, N.H. area.

Mangold tells of the work of Cheever, an accomplished artist, in preparing and executing a mural for a restaurant in Tewksbury, as follows:

Abbott Cheever, the artist, telephoned one evening, in late April. He was painting murals for a chain of restaurants, using pictures appropriate to each location. The one near Tewksbury Airport was featuring airplanes. He had until May 7th. He asked if I'd look at his preliminary sketches and answer some questions. I gathered an armload of books, drove to his studio in Amherst, on Old New Boston Road, and happily found myself involved as technical advisor.

He planned to do a big, half-scale, side-view of a Ryan ST, a Pan-Am Clipper - - the old, Sikorsky flying boat - - taking off the water, a Wright pusher, a WWI Spad, a WWII P-38, Lindberg's "Spirit of St. Louis", Amelia Earhart and her Lockheed Vega, Bleriot flying the English Channel, and a Piper Cub. The project looked monumental and the deadline very close. Besides, pilots would be checking the paintings critically. I enthusiastically explained airfoils, trim tabs, theory of flight, and aviation history.

A look behind the scenes at the mechanics of an art is supposed to be disenchanting, but I found it highly interesting and mystical. To me the true beauty of airplanes lies in their composite symmetry, balance, angles, and curves, all shaped to bend the air, while providing the lightness, strength, and efficiency to fly, and each airplane is designed for a purpose. It delighted me to see Abbott's appreciation of this.

I told him how Louis Bleriot probably wouldn't have succeeded on his famous channel flight except for cooling rain showers which kept his engine running and how relieved he must have felt approaching the white cliffs of Dover, about Amelia Earhart being a distant cousin of mine and how she called her Vega "the little red bus."

After the first session there were several more. Once we went to Nashua Airport so he could sketch the Cub. When we arrived, I discovered I didn't have the key to the hangar. I'd loaned it to a fellow who wanted to borrow my gas cap, and I hadn't put it back on the key chain. I couldn't locate one at the airport. We had to drive back to the house for it. My time was limited, so he didn't have more than a few minutes to sketch. But that was enough.

On May 7th, the murals were ready. I've never seen better, not even in the Smithsonian. He captured the essence of each situation: the glamor of the big, Pan-Am Clipper, the flavor of a WWI, camouflaged Spad over France, the loneliness of the "Spirit of St. Louis", flying just off the waves through swirling mist, the mystique of Amelia Earhart and her "little red bus," the beautiful lines of the Ryan ST, the menace of the WWII P-38 fighter; the sheer adventure of the little Bleriot crossing the channel through rain, with the white cliffs of Dover ahead and a fishing boat below, and the sportiness of the Cub, with me in the cockpit, wearing my buckskin hat. He's a pro.

Jellyfish Invading Beaches

Warm weather and blue skies are luring thousands of vacationing New Englanders to the beaches this summer. Just about as many vacationers have stayed on the beach never going near the water once they saw the millions of undulating transparent blobs drifting aimlessly in toward the shore.

According to New England Aquarium Curator Louis Garibaldi, the arrival of these blobs - jellyfish or Aurelia as they are technically known is seasonal. They have been seen however, in greater numbers this year because of the warm weather. During calm weather they rise to the surface of the water.

Entirely dependent upon tide and wind for mobility, only a very slight onshore wind will push jellyfish - with bodies 98 per cent water - into shore.

"Aurelia aren't dangerous" said Garibaldi, "they resemble Frisbees with a four-leaf clover marked in white, and half-inch tentacles."

Jellyfish of other species, such as Portuguese man-of-war, distinguishable by its blue inflated bag, are dangerous because its tentacles are barbed and connected to poisonous glands.

"Jellyfish of the poisonous variety are not usually found past the southern shore of Cape Cod," said Garibaldi. "However, they may drift farther north." One of the Lion's Mane species, normally found in Arctic waters and considered poisonous was recently picked up by Aquarium staff at Central Wharf. It measured about 12 inches in diameter.

If a bather is stung by a jellyfish, a good antidote is found close at hand, hot dry sand. Hot sand works as an abrasive and helps break down foreign protein.

Garibaldi noted that by September the current infestation of jellyfish on our beaches will be over. Left unsaid, of course, is the fact that by that time most vacations will be over too.

"The Bank You Know and Can Depend On"

Some Varied Thoughts At Midsummer

It's not quite time to think about school bus routes, home room assignments, etc. just yet.

Some people have been on vacation under ideal conditions, others still cautiously look with optimism toward that two week respite.

Thus, as we prepare to flip the calendar over to August, some midsummer thoughts:

New Construction: With economic conditions still less than favorable, despite echoes from the Nation's Capital that the worst is over, it is refreshing to view Andover's six-month building report in such a favorable light.

In last week's TOWNSMAN, it was noted that the building totals for the first six months of the year are $6 million ahead of a year ago, due, of course, to the new Hewlett-Packard construction in West Andover.

But, we feel, even more significant, is the fact that new home construction in Andover, is not off by that much, considering all factors.

In the first quarter of the year, housing starts were down considerably. With the advent of better weather and an easing of the mortgage money market, new house permits began to rise to comparable levels of a year ago.

It is such statistics which emphasize that Andover remains a most desirable address and the H-P plant construction in West Andover provides a comforting note for the town's future tax considerations.

The new industrial plant is also looked upon as a forerunner of a desirable industrial development in the West Andover area, which will provide for Andover an approximation of the ideal community of equitable proportions of residential - industrial - commercial property for its tax base.

The All Stars: Andover's American Little League All Stars accomplished this past week what no other team from the community has - - reaching the Bi-District stage of post-season play.

The Andover club, coached by Frank Monette, had won some difficult games in tournament competition to win the District 14 championship last Wednesday.

As in all athletic endeavor, there is a winner and loser ultimately, and Andover's moment of glory came to an end last Saturday afternoon.

But the community is proud of the all star team and its representation in the area Little League tournament.

Disappointing as the loss may be, the youngsters were truly representative of their designation as All Stars, accepting defeat with the graciousness that had accompanied victory.

'Just In Time': For the many who remember the class productions at Andover High School of such hit musicals as "Mame," "Music Man," "George M." and others, there will be an opportunity to see glimpses of it all again.

The Summer Theater Workshop conducted by the public schools will present a show next Friday and Saturday night at West Junior High auditorium, featuring a pot pourri of the best from the many hit shows presented by Andover High students, past and present.

The production is highly recommended.

For those familiar with the youthful actors and actresses it will be a rewarding experience to see the efforts of young people devoting several weeks of hard work nightly to put together this original production.

For those who have not seen the young actors and actresses in action previously it is an excellent opportunity to see the wealth of talent available in Andover.

Citizens Alert: During the past couple of weeks, the Andover police have been getting a lot of calls to check out suspicious or unusual happenings in neighborhoods.

The result - - a sharp decrease in the number of house breaks which resulted in close to $100,000 in losses during the first six months of the year.

The system, which we have been referring to as the 26,000 member police force, is apparently effective.

Let's keep up the vigilance.

It seems to be making the town off limits to burglars and may lead to some arrests if the alert continues with the same attentiveness.

Recycling: For those who have been away on vacation these past few weeks, why not introduce yourselves to the town's new recycling program.

A new contractor has taken over the service beginning this month, and the results to date have been impressive.

Collections are up, and the problems are few.

Glass pickup under the new system has resulted in no complaints about broken pieces lying around after the truck passes, due to the use of a packer rather than an open truck as in the past.

Next week, it's back to paper and flattened corrugated material to be picked up. The week after, clear glass and tin combined, also a new feature.

We strongly advise giving the recycling program your best effort.

Golfers Looked Forward

We doubt that the golfing fraternity in Andover and its environs was as large as it is today, but 50 years ago this week the TOWNSMAN reported the great interest being shown in the new course to be opened next spring in West Andover.

"It is understood the property has been purchased by private interests and will be operated under the certificate membership plan and when opened will be a full 18-hole course facility completely equipped," the paper reports.

The course was to be 6,500 yards in length.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Reagan's Real Goal

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON -- The suspicion is growing in Republican circles that Ronald Reagan is really running for vice president. He has vigorously denied this to all who question him. He has also encouraged his associates to gear up for a presidential campaign.

But in the smoke-filled backrooms, Reagan concentrates his fire not on President Ford but on Vice President Nelson Rockefeller. Reagan has told Republican leaders repeatedly that Rockefeller should be dropped from the ticket and that a conservative running mate would give Ford the most strength.

Reagan doesn't have to add that he is the most visible conservative on the Republican horizon. And he is doing his best to make himself more visible by appearing on television and giving speeches around the country.

The GOP leaders believe they have deciphered Reagan's message. He is making presidential noises, they think, in order to build himself up for the vice presidential nomination.

Royal Threat: Jordan's tough, little King Hussein isn't one to mince words. Once, he wrote a secret letter to former President Nixon threatening to go on a ghazou unless he got U.S. aid. A ghazou is a Bedouin raid on a neighboring tribe.

We happen to have in our files a copy of Hussein's secret letter to Nixon. Unless he received financial assistance from the United States, Hussein wrote, "We might have to go on a ghazou, an old Arab tribal custom, and get it, sir, from some quarter or other in this neighborhood, possibly causing you a problem which may be even more serious than the one I am now posing. Truly, Mr. President, I do not know what else we could do."

Now Hussein has sent a somewhat similar message to President Ford. We haven't seen the text, but we are told the message characteristically is straight to the point. The King has notified Ford that he wants $350 million worth of anti-aircraft missiles from the United States, or he will buy the missiles from the Soviet Union.

Hussein added pointedly that the Soviets have offered him a complete air defense system.

Unethical Probe: In the past, the House Ethics Committee has behaved like the three monkeys that see no evil, hear no evil and speak no evil.

But all of a sudden, the committee has now decided to investigate someone. He will be Congressman Michael Harrington, who committed the intolerable sin of revealing the CIA's misconduct in Chile. This was information which the House had been given in secret. For this terrible offense, Harington will become the first to have his ethics questioned by the House Ethics Committee.

The Committee hasn't questioned the ethics of Florida's Congressman Bob Sikes who pushed the Pentagon contracts for Fairchild Industries at the same time he owned stock in Fairchild Industries. The Ethics Committee hasn't even questioned the ethics of Idaho's Congressman George Hansen, who has actually pleaded guilty to two federal law violations.

In the eyes of the Ethics Committee, obviously, it is a far more serious offense to violate the gentlemen's rules of the House.

And some Congressmen wonder why garbagemen are held in higher esteem by the public.

War in Space?: All the world hailed the dramatic meeting of American astronauts and Soviet cosmonauts in orbit. It was a spectacular demonstration of peaceful cooperation in space.

But behind the backs of the American and Soviet spacemen, both Washington and Moscow are preparing for war in space. Both nations have signed the 1967 United Nations treaty, which bars armed satellites from space.

Yet both the United States and Soviet Union have launched several military satellites, which are used for reconnaissance and communications. Even more sophisticated satellites are being prepared for the launching pad. These would make it possible to locate enemy targets and direct missile fire upon them with devastating precision.

Once these are in orbit, the rival powers could justify an attempt to shoot them down. In anticipation of this, the Pentagon is designing military satellites to withstand attacks in space.

Technology Gap: During the Apollo-Soyuz linkup, incident-tally, experts labored mightily to overcome problems caused by unsophisticated Soviet technology. When they went to set up a transatlantic teletype system, for example, they found that the typing machines used by the Russians were much slower than U.S. machines. The Americans searched through Bell System warehouses and came up with some old machines which were compatible. But even these had to be geared down.

Pampered Brass: Despite friction between Washington and Ankara, senior American military officers in Turkey are among the most pampered in the world. Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., has caught them being chauffeured to and from work. And special cars are provided to take their children to school and their wives to parties and shopping. The Pentagon insists it is necessary for "security" and to avoid the embarrassment of having an American general locked up for traffic violations. Lesser GIs and civilians in Turkey, meanwhile, use their own cars or walk.

Washington Whirl: Milton Pitts, the White House barber, tells us that President Ford's factotums like their hair even shorter than the Nixon men. They are keeping their sideburns fairly long, however....The citizens of New Hampshire aren't the only ones waiting for the Senate to decide who their Senator will be. The Senate telephone directories have gone unprinted for eight months while the lawmakers have debated the claims of Wyman and Durkin....The strict new campaign financing laws have spawned a spate of jokes in the Congressional cloakrooms. The new rules, one Congressman recently quipped, guarantee every member two terms -- one in the House and one in jail.

Museum Admission Rates Up

With continuing inflationary trends and increasing financial burdens on nonprofit institutions, officials at Boston's Museum of Science have found it necessary to reassess its admission fees.

In an effort to minimize any increase, the Museum is maintaining its adult admission at the current rate, but is raising its children's admission by twenty-five cents. The new fees parallel those charged by other museums and cultural institutions in the Greater Boston area.

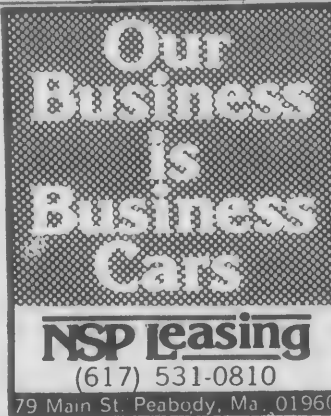

The complete rate schedule is as follows: $2.50 adults (17 through 64); $1.50 children (5 through 16); and seniors (65 and over), students, and active duty military with IDs; Free, members and children under 5; Reduced rates, $1.50 and $1.00, Monday through Thursday, 2 to 5 p.m., Sept. through March, excluding school vacations and holidays; Planetarium programs 50¢ above Museum admission.

Cantaloupes On List Of Best Buys

Cantaloupes are one of the best buys in fruit as they approach their peak season. Advertisements describing size can be confusing, but there are guidelines to get the most for your money, advises the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

"Jumbo" is a misleading term, as size is actually measured by "count" per shipping crate. There are five different "counts" - 18, 23, 27, 36 and 45. Since the "45" count means there are 45 cantaloupes packed per shipping crate, these are the smallest size melons; the "18" count are thus the largest size.

A cantaloupe may be advertised as "jumbo" but, if it is "36-count" and selling at 49 cents, it is not as good a value as "23-count" priced at 2 for 99 cents or 50 cents apiece.

If "count size" is not indicated at the market, ask the produce manager, as it is the only true cost - per - serving measure. As for nutritive value, cantaloupes are an excellent source of vitamins "A" and "C" yet, relatively low in calories.

Other good buys in fresh produce this week are watermelons, plums, nectarines, strawberries. Also, green peppers, tomatoes, iceberg, romaine and Boston lettuce.

At meat counters, there should be good buys in lamb legs, stew meat, whole chickens, fowl, smoked pork shoulder picnics, beef liver, beef chuck, blade steaks and roasts.

In fish, some of the better values are cod, ocean perch, pollock, flounder, smelts and mackerel.

Sweet corn, beans, tomatoes and cucumbers are the vegetables featured in the August recipe contest sponsored by the New England Vegetable Growers Association in cooperation with the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

Recipe entries must consist mainly of one or a combination of these vegetables, and must be postmarked no later than Aug. 15. Mail to: New England Vegetable Growers Association, Box 477, Waltham, Mass. 02154.

First prize is $50; second prize $25; third prize, $15.

Judges will consider "everyday appeal" as a major factor in choosing the winners. They will also be looking for recipes that are somewhat unique, relatively simple to follow and that will result in an attractive finished product.

Local growers are encouraging the use of Massachusetts grown vegetables in season, and, though official entry blanks are not required for the contest, rules are available at local roadside produce stands.

Vegetables to be featured in September and October recipe contests will be announced before the opening dates.

Quilt On Display At Institute

The Essex Institute Bicentennial quilt is on display in the McCarthy Gallery of the Essex Institute, 132 Essex Street in Salem throughout the summer months. The project has been worked on for the past 18 months by members of the Essex County Needlecraft Guild. Its 30 members have employed colorful stitchery to complete the remarkable finished product, a 72 by 100 inch quilt containing 35 squares. Each square represents one of the 34 cities and towns of Essex County with the symbol of the Essex Institute occupying the center square. The creation of the numerous squares which constitute the coverlet, averages between 10 to 30 hours work each.

Betty Lou Gordon of North Andover contributed Andover and North Andover representation in the quilt.

It was so hot, our prices melted.

Hundreds and hundreds of pieces of summer furniture: odd chairs, tables, whole dining and conversation groupings; redwood, wrought iron, cast and tubular aluminum; famous names like Brown Jordan and Woodard. 'Mister Roberts' at Playhouse

Returning and restoring famous American stage plays to the boards has been a very successful recurring event for the popular Town & Country Playhouse of Salem, New Hampshire. During the past five seasons, the theatre has received national attention through major revivals of such famous American stage comedies as "Life With Father" and "Arsenic and Old Lace." Following productions in Salem they became standard fare in other summer theatres in the area and across the nation.

During this current American bicentennial season, Joshua Logan and Thomas Heggen's famous 1948 Navy comedy "Mister Roberts" will begin an engagement through Sunday, Aug. 3 at the air-conditioned theatre. The enormously large cast will star New York's Doug Hoekstra in the role of Ensign Pulver. The action of the spectacular production takes place on a cargo vessel in the Pacific. It's a rowdy and hilarious realistic saga of a group of American sailors and their boredom relieved only by a conspiracy against the captain. The large all male cast features one single female in the person of Kira Osarczuk who provides some of the hilarity as a naval nurse. New York's Doug Hoekstra recently finished a role in an original play widely acclaimed in the city.

The Velvet Touch On Exhibit

Over forty velvet weavings from Europe and Asia will be on view in the Boston Museum's exhibition The Velvet Touch, August 5 through October 26. Drawn entirely from the Museum's collection, these velvets date from the late 14th to the 20th century.

Velvet weaving is an extraordinarily complex technique, whose origin is unknown. By the time of the Renaissance, velvets had become the most fashionable and sought after textiles. Passed down from generation to generation, these costly and luxurious weavings were frequently bequeathed to the Church to be made into elaborate ecclesiastical vestments. Several of these sumptuous 15th and 16th century Italian velvets are included in The Velvet Touch.

An early 16th century Persian tent ceiling with dramatic hunting scenes highlights the exhibition. This piece was twice a prize of war - once during the mid-16th century Turkish invasions of Persia, and a century later after the Turkish siege of Vienna. It has been a part of the MFA's collection since 1928.

The most recently woven velvet in the exhibition dates from the 20th century - an elegant cape designed by the Venetian designer Mariano Fortuny.

Stanley A. Mallory, 'Aboard' Wasp

Boatswains Mate 1st Class Stanley A. Mallory of North Andover, is the only Navy enlisted man commanding his own aircraft carrier.

However, Petty Officer Mallory's carrier is only 45 feet long and weighs only 17 tons. It's not sea-going, but it's logged thousands of miles on New England highways.

His ship, a scale model of the USS WASP, has been seen by more than two million New Englanders at events such as fairs and parades since a group of Quonset Point Naval Air Station sailors built it in their spare time back in 1949. At that time, such Essex Class carriers were the backbone of the Navy's aviation arm and the sailors wanted to honor the WASP, famous veteran of major Pacific air and sea battles. The volunteers, donating hundreds of hours of their time, used scrap and salvaged materials. The model's plating, deck fittings, and superstructure are plywood, masonite and balsa. Most of the inner structure is cypress and oak.

Navy Recruiting uses Mallory's WASP in Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Vermont.

"Sometimes during the summer, I work seven days a week," said Mallory who drives the 55 foot lowboy trailer on which the WASP is mounted, "But we also get a lot of requests during the other months."

It's a new experience for the 22-year Navy veteran, although his experience with ship rigging helps him keep the carrier looking authentic.

"There's an ex-carrier sailor or two in some of the crowds," the boatswains mate said, "If things like the signal flags weren't rigged exactly right, I'd hear about it. I've even had WASP veterans check it over."

Mallory has served from the South Pole to the Indian Ocean. In Vietnam, he operated a dredge as well as serving in the "swift boats" of a coastal squadron which intercepted junks being used to smuggle arms to the Viet Cong. He has also served on tankers, ammunition ships, sea-going tugs, amphibious cargo vessels and in fleet maintenance units and cargo-handling battalions.

The real WASP has been decommissioned and her place has been taken by newer ships.

But Mallory feels proud that the Navy has allowed him to honor the famous carrier by adding her commissioning plaque and a special State of Massachusetts commendation plaque presented after World War II to his travelling model.

"It helps keep the spirit of the WASP alive," he said. "Of course, my major task is to attract crowds from which we have the opportunity to gain some top-notch recruits, the type which took the original WASP through all those Pacific battles. The Navy has changed a lot since World War II, but one thing hasn't - the need for good people."

Swenson In Production At Wakefield

The American Revolution Bicentennial has brought with it a welcome revival of American patriotism. This "Happy Birthday, America" spirit is reflected in the arts, with pride in our heritage a refreshing current theme. In Wakefield, the newly formed Wakefield Bicentennial Theatre Company celebrates this summer with a production of

"The Patriots."

Written by Pulitzer Prize-winner Sidney Kingsley, "The Patriots" deals with the struggle of the fledgling United States to set the world an example of a working democracy. Central to the drama is a bitter enmity between Thomas Jefferson, proponent of equality for all, and Alexander Hamilton, who considered Jefferson's democracy a utopian fantasy.

Director Debora Springer Bach of Melrose recently announced the cast, drawn from Wakefield and nearby communities. In principal roles are Barry Pease of Malden as Thomas Jefferson; John Anderson of Wakefield as Alexander Hamilton; and Alfred Webber of Wakefield as George Washington. An Andover man, Al Swenson of 24 Prospect Road, has been assigned the role of Henry Knox, while Mrs. Marjorie Swenson will assist on make-up.

"The Patriots" will be presented at the Wakefield Junior High School Auditorium, Main Street, Wakefield, August 22 and 23 at 8:15 p.m.

Auxiliary Police Openings

The Andover Auxiliary Police has openings for volunteers and applications are now available from Sgt. James Johnson at the Andover Police Department.

Sgt. Johnson, who also serves as civil defense director of the town, will talk with applicants at the time of obtaining the applications.

"Old Ironsides," is open at the Charlestown Navy Yard daily, 9:30 to 3:15. Free.

Many Enrolled At Lowell University

THE TOWNSMAN, JULY 31, 1975

The University of Lowell, established June 9 by the merger of Lowell State College with Lowell Technological Institute, greets first classes under the new University banner on September 3.

Requests for information and admissions reached a record high and over 1100 new students are expected on campus this Fall. The total included both first time freshmen and transfers from other schools. A number of Andover and North Andover residents have received official acceptance to be among students at the University.

Historically, the two schools represent a 161 year contribution to higher education. Lowell State College, now designated the south campus of the University of Lowell, was established in 1894 as one of the first normal schools for teacher training in the state. The north campus of the University, formerly Lowell Technological Institute, had its beginnings as a textile school in 1895 and developed international recognition in the area.

According to Acting President of the University, Everett V. Olsen, "much care has been taken to preserve the best of both schools." The University of Lowell includes seven colleges on the undergraduate level - Applied Health, Education, Engineering, Liberal Arts, Management Science, Music and Pure and Applied Science. The new Massachusetts University has graduate level programs and a variety of offerings in continuing

Named To Council

United States Senator Vance Hartke, Chairman of the U.S. Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee has appointed Charles N. Collatos of Andover, to the National Advisory Council.

The Committee has now entered into its fifth year of operations, and is seeking a meaningful new thrust to accelerate efforts to keep legislation abreast of the needs of the veteran.

Senator Hartke told Commissioner Collatos, "Knowing that you share with me a common concern for the well-being of our Veterans, I am pleased that you are willing to accept membership on the National Advisory Council on Veterans' Affairs for the Committee on Veterans' Affairs of the United States Senate."

"I envision the Council as both a brain trust for solutions and a sounding board for evaluating priorities and programs," stated Senator Hartke.

Among the eager campers learning to swim at the Morgan Memorial Fresh Air Camps are (left to right) Bryan Means, Kevin Means, Sam Russell and Corey Russell, all of Dorchester, as supervised by Water Safety Instructor Andy Gulizian, Andover. The camp exposes 300 inner city children to all the joys of camping such as boating, swimming, campfires, songfests, arts and crafts, athletics and long lasting friendships.

Peabody Museum of Salem is currently featuring a display on Navies of the United States, covering the Navy's history from the Revolutionary War through the War of 1812. It will be on view until September. The museum is famous for its artifacts from the Orient and South Seas as well as many displays and maritime artifacts of the early 19th century, when Salem was a major seaport. A popular exhibit is a diorama showing a typical Salem wharf in the early 19th century depicting merchant ships discharging their cargoes into a warehouse on the wharf with cargo from the Pacific and the Orient. The museum is open year round, Monday to Saturday 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sunday and holidays 1 p.m. - 5 p.m.

that judges should treat natural objects and areas in the same manner as persons unable to manage their own affairs, according to the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

Flea Marketeers Set For Downtown Weekend

Among the more popular of pastimes these days is the weekend visit to Flea Markets. The visit proves economical for the bargain hunter and enjoyable for the camaraderie which takes place among the merchants and shoppers.

For the second year in a row, the Andover Chamber of Commerce is providing just such an event for shoppers and civic and community groups as Downtown Andover becomes a Flea Market haven for two days, Friday and Saturday.

Response to the annual promotional event of the chamber has been overwhelming, according to Douglas W. Thompson, chairman of the affair.

Many civic and community groups will be participating.

Shoppers will find the flea marketeers located from Punchard Avenue to Elm Square during regular business hours, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday.

In addition to the flea market offerings, Andover merchants will also be offering special items at bargain prices

Aroused Citizens Credited With Reducing Burglaries

An aroused Andover citizenry, showing concern over the heavy losses through house breaks during the first six months of this year, has been taking some affirmative action resulting in a definite curtailing of burglary in the community.

Andover police have been receiving and responding to calls from all parts of the community where residents are informing of suspicious activity in their neighborhoods.

Sgt. Robert Parker of the police detective division reported this week that the number of calls police have received over the past two weeks has been tremendous.

Response has been made by uniformed police in some cases and by plain clothes officers in others.

It is difficult to ascertain whether investigations have resulted in preventing breaks, but the increased activity, has certainly discouraged such activity if it were contemplated.

Parker notes that in some cases a reported parked car with people in it has been investigated. Police find the occupants from out-of-town. But no police action can be taken, since the occupants are doing nothing wrong.

But it well could be that an area was being sized up, or plans being made for a break. The neighborly report, thus well could have prevented a burglary.

Parker feels the citizen interest is proving to be beneficial.

In the two weeks since the initial reports of the losses amounting to almost $100,000 in the first six months appeared in the TOWNSMAN, there have been no breaks of a sizeable nature reported to police.

There have been some breaks, in apartments and some homes, mostly of the minor variety. The category minor, does not demean the nature of someone's home having been burglarized, but the breaks reported in the past two weeks have involved liquor and small amounts of cash, rather than the quantities of silver, antiques and other valuables involved in earlier breaks.

Further evidence of concern for the protection of personal and neighbor's property has come in the increased number of requests for house checks received by the police and also sudden interest in use of the engraving machine to mark property.

There has also been an increase in the number of alarms being installed in private homes and connected to the police station.

The engraving machine, part of the Project Identification program initiated by the selectmen several weeks ago, involves marking valuables with license or social security number, so that the items can be identified.

Such procedure also discourages burglars, since the items marked are difficult to sell, or "fence."

When the program was initiated the response was slow. Since the reports of the past few weeks, the 11 machines available at the police station have been in almost constant use. Memorial Hall Library also has machines for loan.

The biggest assist has been the reporting by the public in general.

Police have emphasized that they welcome the calls and are pleased to make the investigation, even if it leads only to a "false alarm."

The alerted, concerned public is the best method of preventing further breaks or possibly leading to arrests.

Sgt. Parker notes that the evidence of a lot of people being greatly concerned about the burglaries is a key weapon in preventing further major losses by residents of Andover and is hopeful the vigilance continues.
